

PROCLAMATION

- WHEREAS, the City of Idaho Falls is proud to support a clean energy future by utilizing readily abundant forms of diverse energy resources that are powering homes, businesses, and schools across our community; and
- WHEREAS, maintaining carbon-free electricity and leveraging it to be the benefit of the community is of paramount importance to the City of Idaho Falls, which has already attained a 100 percent carbon-free portfolio; and
- WHEREAS, Idaho is a national leader in clean energy, with our rivers supplying half of our net electricity generation; and
- WHEREAS, Idaho was the eighth largest state producer of hydropower in 2021; and
- WHEREAS, Idaho is rich in renewable energy sources, with its volcanic formations providing one of the best geothermal potentials in the nation, and Idaho is one of just seven states with geothermal power capacity; and
- WHEREAS, the clean energy sector is a growing part of the economy and has been a key driver of economic growth in Idaho in recent years, supplying nearly 13,000 jobs to Idahoans; and
- WHEREAS, National Clean Energy Week provides an opportunity for individuals, local governments, corporations, and other organizations in the City of Idaho Falls and across the state to continue working together towards achieving net-zero and emissions reduction while ensuring America remains an energy leader in the global marketplace.

NOW THEREFORE, I, REBECCA L. NOAH CASPER, MAYOR of the City of Idaho Falls, do hereby proclaim September 26 - September 30, 2022, as in the City of Idaho Falls and welcome all citizens to recognize the tremendous efforts being made to attain sustainable economic prosperity and resource conservation.

National Clean Energy Week

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Idaho Falls to be affixed on this 19th day of September, Two Thousand and Twenty-two.

Rebecca L. Noah Casper, Mayor
City of Idaho Falls