

Clean Energy Week

WHEREAS, The City of Houston was ranked by the EPA as the leader in municipal clean energy usage in 2021 with more than 1 billion kilowatt-hours (kWh) of clean energy usage which is equivalent to powering 94,000 homes for a year; and,

WHEREAS, The City of Houston continues to ensure that renewable energy remains a priority in all aspects of government by powering all municipal buildings with 100% clean energy; and,

WHEREAS, Texas' clean energy generation potential surpasses the rest of the United States and as a result, has nearly unlimited potential for growth; and,

WHEREAS, Texas leads the nation in generating power from wind turbines that add to the state's diverse portfolio of renewable energy sources, helping to strengthen our domestic energy supply; and,

WHEREAS, Houston is home to over 200 clean energy companies that are constantly innovating and pushing the field forward; and

WHEREAS, Clean energy provides reliable jobs for over 60,000 individuals across the city, which ranks Houston as the 7th largest clean energy workforce in the nation among municipalities; and,

WHEREAS, By promoting clean energy, we can simultaneously preserve the natural beauty of Texas and grow a sector of the economy which will guarantee 21st century jobs. The City of Houston commends all those on this very special occasion and extends best wishes for continued success in all his future endeavors.

THEREFORE, I, Sylvester Turner, Mayor of the City of Houston, hereby proclaim September 26-30, 2022, as in Houston, Texas.

Clean Energy Week

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Official Seal of the City of Houston to be affixed this 3rd day of September, 2022.

Sylvester Turner
Mayor of the City of Houston

